Leatherback Sea Turtles

Did you know that leatherback sea turtles are the largest species of sea turtles in the world? There are only about thirty-five thousand nesting leatherback turtles compared to one hundred and fifteen thousand nesting hawksbill turtles. They were first named in Bermuda by Captain Carter in 1791 and considered a type of eagle. It explains its cold blooded nature with scales. The pattern of scales on their head and in rows. Their average lifespan is 40-50 years.

This is the only sea turtle that does not have a shell and big scales. Although a does not have big scales and a shell, it does have very big fins. Their fins are like paddles to help them swim through the water. The back flippers are like a steering wheel. The sea turtles can be as long as seven feet. They can weigh up to one thousand pounds.

They eat a lot of jellyfish and sea squirts. The sea turtles go to the depths of the ocean to see their food. When they are small they live in nurseries where there are no predators and there
